

BHRA Newsletter February 2016

Happy New Year from Bathwick Hill Residents association.

We will be having our AGM in March 17th, the details and agenda are below.

As always this is also a social event, we will have Kirsten Elliot talking about Bath's pleasure gardens particularly Sydney gardens. Our councillors will be there to answer questions, particularly about traffic, bus service and parking on Bathwick Hill. We have attached a survey to get your views.

During last year Citizen's advice was our charity of the year. They have been very appreciative of our donations, the most recent being £150 raised in November for the sale of the print 'A view of Bath from Beechen cliff' by Charles Joseph Hullmandel, very generously donated by Colin Martin and Sue West.

Our November event last year was a visit to the Iron Art works in Larkhall. Andy gave us a very interesting talk on restoring ironwork and showed us around the work shop. They work closely with English heritage and the National Heritage Ironwork Group to maintain a high standard of ironwork and have restored and replaced iron work not just in Bath but all over the country. Iron Art have open days, so for those who did not make it, you may want to contact them about joining an open day if you are interested. We have posted a link to the NHIG web site on our web site.

NEWS : BANES Placemaking Plan 21015-2029

BANES has put out for consultation a draft Placemaking Plan covering the period to 2029 (the consultation closed on 2 February 2016). The plan is based around two main themes: growth and sustainability.

The plan notes that the population of Bath is currently 90,000 with 20% being students and foresees a growth in the working age population, school children and people aged 65+ (especially 80+). To accommodate a rising population, and 10,300 additional jobs, 13,000 new housing units will be required over the 2011-29 period, of which 30% will be affordable housing. In Bath itself over the plan period 6,950 new jobs and 7,020 dwellings are forecast.

To meet housing demands requires an increase in past rates of housing delivery in BANES from 380 to 700+ per annum. The plan largely prioritises the use of brownfield sites for housing and retains the Green Belt with a few exceptions (land adjoining Odd Down, East Keynsham, South West Keynsham and Whitchurch).

A separate December 2015 document from BANES made forecasts for student numbers. The University of Bath has grown from 6,776 students in 1994/5 to 16,184 in 2015/6. The university forecasts that this number will rise to 19,291 by 2020/1.

Forecasts of student numbers are made for the period beyond 2020/1 but these are speculative and have not been endorsed by the university; continuing the long term trend rate of growth of student numbers would result in 24,500 students by 2029.

The number of beds on campus is currently 3,156 and this is forecast to rise to 4,156 by 2020/1, implying that there will be significant additional demand for student accommodation in the city. Bath Spa university is considerably smaller – it has 7,400 students and is forecast to grow to 10,500 students by 2020/1.

The plan continues the current transport policy of seeking to reduce car dependency and working towards making walking, cycling and use of public transport the more attractive options for travelling. A Park & Ride to the east of Bath is assumed in the plan.

How to keep up to date with local news & events from BHRA
