

Keeping you up to date on the latest news and events from the University of Bath

View this email in your browser

We're supporting Bath Children's Literature Festival

CHILDREN'S LITERATURE FESTIVAL

You will have seen recently that we sponsored the Bath Festival this year for the first time, and we are delighted to extend the partnership to the Children's Literature Festival which will take place from 29 September to 8 October 2023.

We will be sponsoring two events as well as supporting the promotion of the whole Festival among our community. Do keep an eye out here on our Community Engagement blog for updates as we get closer to the event!

Find out more

Championships

If you want to be part of an Olympic Games qualifying event coming to Bath this summer, volunteers are being sought for the 2023 Modern Pentathlon and Laser Run World Championships taking place at the University from 19-28 August.

More than 100 people have already signed up but there are roles to suit everyone, from greeting athletes from around the world to delivering an unforgettable experience for spectators.

Sign up to volunteer here

UoB researchers speaking at BRLSI

We are currently supporting the team at BRLSI as they develop their next programme of talks, matching researchers from the University against a list of subjects that BRLSI patrons have said they'd be interested in learning about.

The next talk we're running at BRLSI will be on Tuesday 20 June given by Hannah Hutton, a PhD researcher from our School of Management. She is speaking about her research into mobile phone app tracking and ad-tech, and will outline how the data you generate on your smartphone can be translated into profit for advertisers.

Book your tickets here

Volunteers Spotlight

First year Politics student, Max, is currently volunteering in the e-commerce team at Bath Cats and Dogs Home.

"Being on campus at the university, I heard about BCDH due to its proximity, and I liked the idea of volunteering for an animal charity as animals cannot help themselves. I was pleased to discover when I enquired about volunteering opportunities that I could use my experience with eBay to raise funds which would directly support the animals in the care of BCDH."

Read the full interview here

Have Your Say in Psychology Research: Youth Involvement Event

Discover the opportunities for youth involvement in psychology research. The Youth Involvement Event on Saturday 1 July is a free event where children, young people, parents, and caregivers are all welcome to join.

At this event, young people will share their first-hand experiences of involvement in youth research at the Department of Psychology. Additionally, researchers will provide an overview of ongoing youth-related research projects. The primary objective of this event is to foster an environment of co-production between researchers and young people and understand how they would like to get involved in psychology research.

Sign up online

First pollinator working groups a success

Thank you to all of those who joined us this week to help clear the space ready for our first pollinator garden.

The next phase of our project is going to be putting in the structures needed to start planting. We are aiming to create a flowering herb garden as it is next to the University's kitchens, so it will be both useful for food preparation and for pollinators. We will look to plant hardy, drought tolerant species with a nod to our increasingly hot dry summers.

Find out how you can get involved

Find out more about our work with communities locally and regionally.

View public lectures and fitness classes.

Listen to the University of Bath podcasts

Subscribe to this newsletter

 Is there something you'd like to see here? Tell us your thoughts!

Subscribe

Past Issues

Translate ▼
